The Living Dungeon: Unlike other games of its type, The Living Dungeon employs boardgame-like rules and game mechanics designed to support a social component that enhances the gaming experience. The core experience is quite simple and classic. You play as a troop of adventurers who are hired by a powerful mage known as the Defender. You and your adventurers are dropped into a dungeon (the dungeon is provided to you in a custom-designed housing) and you have one simple task. Destroy your opponent's dungeon. In order to accomplish this task, you must try to complete quests, gather loot and defeat monsters. The dungeons can vary greatly in size and complexity, as you can create a vast world, a small dungeon or anything in-between, and up to seven players can join in on the experience. The Living Dungeon is designed to be played in person with players taking on the roles of the heroes themselves. When you play, you can represent your hero in the game or alternate between a role representing your dungeon. The party represents your army of adventurers, which must be led by a powerful "master" (your hero). Each adventure is unique and important. The longer your party stays alive, the stronger they will become. The longer a player or an army lives, the more loot they can steal from the dungeon and pick up along the way. Key Features: • Random dungeons that vary in size and complexity between games. • Custom-designed housing for the dungeon, with multiple story areas that can be built on or near a central theme of your choosing. • The ability to customize your dungeon, allowing you to design your own rules and questing structure. • Up to 7 players can play at a time. • A full campaign with its own story and a large world containing over fifty dungeons. • Assemble your party of heroes and lead them into battle against evil. • A simple and intuitive system allowing even new gamers to learn the game quickly. • Adjustable difficulty levels with challenge boosters for advanced players. • A high player-to-player connection where friends and allies assist each other and push each other to success. • A story-centric progression and difficulty-based experience to keep even advanced players challenged. • Intelligent AI opponents that will challenge even the best players. About This Game Designers: The Living Dungeon was created by the creative team behind another unique game design, The Living Cavern. This team has a decade-long history of creating unique and entertaining game experiences

Choose wisely for each scenario and complete the pack!A monoclonal antibody raised against the cytoplasmic domain of the beta 2-adrenergic receptor blocks specific radioligand binding. A panel of monoclonal antibodies raised against the cytoplasmic domain of the beta 2-adrenergic receptor has been used to study the role of this domain in signal transduction. Two antibodies specifically recognize the NH2-terminal amino acids at positions 89 and 90 of the beta 2-receptor. Using ligand binding, cell surface expression, and immunoprecipitation we have shown that these antibodies block agonist and antagonist-induced signal transduction by a mechanism that is independent of receptor internalization. These antibodies significantly blocked agonist-induced stimulation of cyclic AMP formation, cell surface expression, and a variety of beta-adrenergic receptor kinase activities in intact transfected cells. Activation of receptor kinase activity in immunoprecipitated beta 2-receptors by agonist was completely blocked by these antibodies. The antibodies specifically inhibit by 73% the ability of the beta 2-receptor to bind the [125I]iodocyanopindolol (ICYP) radioligand. These observations suggest a model in which a conformational
